GRADUATE SCHOOL GENERAL COURSES TIMETABLE	12

Schedule:

Schedule	Time	For students	principle for course selection:
Period 1	25 th July to 9 th September	Graduate students before Grade 2016	Random selection to the course choosing results by the algorithms of the selection system
Period 2	10 th September to 14 th September	Graduate students at school
Period 3	15 th September to 17 th September	Graduate students at school
Courses withdrawal deadline	25 th September	Graduate students at school

Important notes

1. Postgraduate students (including exchange students and scholars) can register for their desired courses via the on-line course registration system during the course registration periods.
2. There are two times for course selection in each academic year, one in late August/early September (Autumn Semester) and the other in January/February (Spring Semester). The actual dates vary from year to year depending on the academic calendar.
3. Curriculum schedule of the English taught programs can be downloaded from the Graduate School homepage

<http://gs.xmu.edu.cn/en/>.

4. Students are strongly encouraged to consult their supervisors or program secretary/coordinator the courses they should be required to take before starting to register for courses.
5. Preparation for Course Selection
 - a) Read the regulations.
 - b) Check the study schedule of your program.
 - c) Check the teaching timetable.
 - d) Check the course selection schedule and confirm whether selection of courses is required by your program.
6. Students can sign up for courses during the course registration periods or withdraw the selected courses before the course withdrawal deadline. The course withdrawal deadline is normally one week after the course selection period (please refer to the schedule of the relevant semester). After the course withdrawal period, students will not be allowed to drop any courses.
7. Students who fail to complete the entire lessons or to participate in course work and examinations will receive zero score for that course.
8. Please be reminded that the course selection system may get “crowded” when the deadline is near. Therefore, students are suggested to sign up for or withdraw from any course as early as possible.

Course Introduction

Postgraduate courses are generally divided into three categories: general courses, required courses and optional courses. General courses are offered by the graduate school.

Below is the introduction of general courses and English-taught courses:

General compulsory Courses

There are two required General Course modules:

1. Chinese Language

- 高级汉语 (Taught in Chinese) or
- Rudiments of Chinese Language (Taught in English)
- Elementary Chinese Reading and Writing (Taught in English)

2. Introduction to China

- 中国概况 (Taught in Chinese) or
- Selected Issues on China (Taught in English)

Teaching Language	Targeted students	Course 1	Course 2
English-taught Program	PhD candidate	Rudiments of Chinese Language (Siming Campus)	Selected Issues on China
	Postgraduate	Elementary Chinese Reading and Writing (Xiang'an Campus)
Chinese-taught Program	PhD candidate	高级汉语	中国概况 postgraduate

The specific time/place/classroom/teachers and other information of these courses are available in the on-line course registration system.

Exemption from the General Courses

Course Title	Eligibility (You are allowed to apply for courses exemption if you meet one of the following requirements)
Rudiments of Chinese Language	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Obtained at least 240 points in new HSK 3 or above 2. Studied Chinese language courses in any Chinese university for at least 70 class hours, and scored 70 points or above 3. The red word “unsettled” means that the selected course has not been successfully confirmed. If your course selection has been secured, the “unsettled” in color red will change to “settled” in color green. The course status will be changed after the deadline of each course selection period. Students who do not successfully register in their desired course(s) in the first or second period can choose to sign up for other available course(s) in a subsequent period. Students will not be able to register for courses after the course selection period ends.
